

FROM EARTH TO ART: CUSTOMER ADDENDA

The World Wide Web has revolutionized the research process. What was once a slow search through printed material can now be done in seconds electronically. Most of the material found in researching this book was done the traditional way, but since the introduction of the Internet a great deal more information continues to surface.

The original list of Maddock and Scammell customers was formed using traditional methods, ranging from printed materials to searches for china at antique shows, yard sales and thrift shops. In recent years, eBay has become the principal source of information about additional customers of the Lamberton Works. A weekly eBay search under Pottery and Glass for “hotel china,” “Scammell china,” “Trenton China,” as well as a search under all categories of just “Scammell” or “Maddock” will often result in a new offering to add to the customer list.

eBay can be even more useful in identifying all of the mystery logos that have already been found. Monograms, coats-of arms, Native Americans, famous people, scenes and names in unusual lettering styles can often be linked to their owners by searches ranging from “hotel matchbook,” “hotel envelope,” or “hotel advertisement” to such things as “hotel key tag” or “hotel soap.” Using “club,” “yacht club,” “restaurant” or other words results in an even broader range of possible Lamberton Works customer identification.

This addenda lists additional Lamberton Works customers that continue to be identified since the book was completed, as well as any new information about Maddock Pottery, Scammell China or the Lamberton works that is discovered.

To simplify your search, the customer list will be in alphabetical order. If any of these relate to information contained in the book, page numbers for the original information will be included. As new customers are identified they will be inserted into the existing list.

Dinnerware

SMITH, LILLIAN WILHELM (ANASAZI DINNERWARE)

Border design of Hopi or Navajo Indian motifs in black & orange. Orange stepped triangle shapes with animals & triangles formed of black vertical dashes (suggesting basket weaving). Black rim and verge lines. Ivory Lamberton Scammell (S-I-28) “Designed By Lillian Wilhelm Smith” (backstamp in red).

Lillian Wilhelm Smith (1882 - 1971) was an illustrator and easel painter known for her Arizona landscapes and portraits. The only known examples of the pattern, informally named “Anasazi,” are in the Heard Museum in Phoenix, AZ. The service may have been produced exclusively for Maie Heard, who founded the museum. A teapot and covered sugar bowl are among the pieces comprising this service.

Rim band composed of long dark blue sections with alternating red and blue squares between sections. Flanking black pin lines. Scammell Lamberton Ivory china (S-I-27). Supplied by Nathan Straus & Sons, New York.

Scammell produced this china between 1928 and 1936 for Amackassin Camp, which was located on top of a mountain near Blairstown, NJ. No information has been found about this camp. It could have closed due to the Depression.

The former camp was purchased by Mr. Earl A. Taylor and his wife Jonnie, who converted the camp into a boarding school for troubled youth with learning disorders.

In 1931 Earl, James, and Carl Taylor had developed the Ophthalmograph, an eye movement camera, and the Metrooscope, a machine with three shutters that exposed a line of print one-third at a time, at a controlled rate. These were two of the first instruments used in reading instruction in the United States. Controlled Reading, by Earl Taylor was published by The University of Chicago Press in 1937. The school was very progressive in that it tried to address general health and well being from several levels ... not purely traditional academics.

The Taylor family operated this school during the 1950's and early 1960's. Students from many parts of the world attended, some later went on to college and became doctors. The school instructed about 20 students with a staff of about 8. In 1957 Charles C. Angelini was the dining room supervisor as well as the industrial shop teacher. The dining room was located on the first floor of the main building, with the dormitory for students above. "Amackassin" is the Native American word for 'big rock' and there was a large rock beside the entrance at the base of the mountain.

AVIATION COUNTRY CLUB OF DETROIT

Crested with an illustration of an early bi-wing airplane with blue fuselage and yellow orange wings. Upper case, serif, "A. C. C" monogram below the plane. Flanking blue pin lines, placed mid-rim.

The airplane is Standard model E-4, or J-1, designed by Charles Day and produced by Standard Aero Corp. The E-4 was used as a WWI pilot trainer, and later, as model J-1 for Air Mail service by the US Postal Service.

A fragment of this pattern was found by Hunter Research, Inc. in Maddock Pottery's dump site #2, which was used from around 1912 to 1921.

Known pieces of this pattern include handleless creamers, platters, and candle stands. Some pieces are Lamberton China, others contained the impressed "Trenton China" backstamp.

An article about this club in the April, 1921 issue of Golf Illustrated magazine, written by J. Lew Brown, shows the club house and gives information about it. The 850-acre property, on the north shore of Green Lake, about 30 miles northeast of Detroit, was previously owned by Walter Flanders. The club house, which was originally Mr. Flanders home, contained a huge dining room on the main floor, with sleeping quarters for over 50 guests on the floor above. The second floor of the garage contained a ballroom. Golf was the main activity of this club, but it also contained one of the best aviation fields in the country.

At this point no printed material with the Aviation Country Club of Detroit's logo has been found to totally prove the identification of this pattern. It could be that Maddock's designers created the decal for the club's china before a club logo, if there was one, had been designed. The club opened June 19, 1920. By 1926 it's membership peaked at 700. In 1928 it became Lochaven Country Club. In 1938 it was reorganized as Green Lake Country Club, which closed in 1941.

AVIATION COUNTRY CLUB OF LONG ISLAND

Information sources: 13 1/2" x 9 1/4" platter on eBay 11/06. Logo and club information www.vanderbiltcupraces.com. (April 26, 2012)

BAKER HOTEL

100 W. Main St. St. Charles, IL *

Crested with double-outlined circle containing a profile bust illustration of a Native American, facing to left, with feather headdress extending into the circle outline rings. In brown, tan & gray green decal. Black, red, black rim pin lines. Lamberton China (L-10).

Construction began on the 5-story, 55-room Baker Hotel in 1926. It opened June 2, 1928. It contained 3 dining rooms and a ballroom.

This Native American circle crest as used on the china appears on a matchbook from the Baker Hotel. The problem is that the "Lamberton China" (L-10) backstamp used on the 3 known examples of the china predates the construction of the hotel. It could be that the Native American head decals were originally produced for another customer, then sold to the Baker when it ordered china. The logo then became the hotel's crest?

BATA SHOE COMPANY BELCAMP, MD.

Crested with "Bata" in green lettering. Thick & pin lines in green at rim. Green pin line at verge. Impressed and transfer Trenton backstamps (S - T - 20 & S - T - 23) The Bata Shoe Company was founded in Czechoslovakia in 1894 by Thomas Bata, Sr. In the mid 1930's Thomas Bata, Jr and his brother, Jon, came to the United States to build a new shoe factory. They purchased a site on the East side of newly opened Route 40, north of Aberdeen, MD. When it opened in 1939 the complex contained a five-story, International-style factory building, a five-story hotel and about 70 houses for the workers. The hotel building contained the factory cafeteria, as well as a ballroom. Scammell produced Trenton China crested with the "Bata" logo for this factory. The original Battle House was built for an investment group that included James Battle & his half-nephews John and Samuel Battle. It opened in 1852. In 1900 it was rebuilt as a 7-story brick structure, but it burned to the ground on February 12, 1905. Construction began in 1906 on the new Battle House, which was eight stories and contained 300 rooms with 200 private baths. It opened in 1908. Around 1959 it became a Sheraton Hotel, which closed in 1974. It would remain vacant for 30 years before being restored and reopened in 2007 as Battle House Renaissance Mobile Hotel & Spa.

BOSTON AND PHILADELPHIA STEAMSHIP CO.

Additional information on listed customer. Pattern shown in Maddock pattern sample book (See

This steamship line was founded in 1852 and officially chartered in 1873. It operated until 1906, when it was purchased by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Rail Road Co. In 1914 the New Haven sold the steamship operation to the Merchants and Miners Transportation Co.

To date no crested examples of this pattern have surfaced. An entirely different border design with the B & P house flag and name in the center of the well was produced by Greenwood China. After 1906 Maddock probably used this border on china produced for other customers.

BOSTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Additional information on listed customer. 80 Federal Street, Boston, MA.

By the early 1920s, the Boston Chamber of Commerce had outgrown their quarters in the 1893 Grainery Exchange Building on India Street. (One source reports they left there in 1902, but if so, where they relocated is unknown.) In the early 1920s, construction began on a new headquarters at 80 Federal Street. This 14-story building was completed in 1923.

When it opened it contained two dining facilities, both operated by 80 Federal St. Restaurants, Inc. The main dining room was located on the top floor. A cafeteria was in the basement, below the main lobby. Both of these restaurants were open to the public from 8 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. An undated menu featured imported fresh snails A La Bourguignonne at 55¢ for a 1/2 dozen or 90¢ a dozen. Maybe Chicken a la King at $1.25, or Stuffed Tomato Waldorf at 50¢ would be more to your liking.

Scammell designed and produced an underglaze decal scalloped border for these restaurants. (See page 338.) Larger pieces contained the Chamber's shield and capitol dome crest in the center of the well. Mitchell Woodbury supplied this Scammell pattern.

Bauscher China of Weiden, Germany, also produced this pattern, which was supplied by the New York office of Arthur Schiller & Son. The Bauscher pattern's backstamp contains "Made expressly for 80 Federal Street Restaurants, Inc."

Around 1970, this building was torn down and replaced by the 37-story 100 Federal Street Building.

Hotel and continued until the 1930s in the new Morrison Hotel. Pieces found in Maddock dump site. Illustration and information RWCN IDwiki.

BOSTON STORE, THE

Additional information and correction to location of listed customer. 716 - 728 State St., Erie, PA.

Crested with decal illustration of the tan brick clock tower above entrance to store. Blue sky with clouds around tower. American Hotels floral border decal flanking illustration. Scammell Lamberton.

The Boston Store in Erie was founded in 1885. In 1929 construction began on their new 6-story, State Street store which opened in 1931. A four-sided, buff brick, clock and bell tower above the main entrance, was the distinctive feature of the building. NOTE: Although there were a number of "Boston Store" -named stores in various cities, they were not a chain. Each one was individually founded and operated.

When the American Hotels Company began using their new blue transfer pattern designed by Emil Schnepf and patented by Scammell in 1928 (see page 606), Scammell was left with a large stock of their earlier floral border design decals. This floral border was originally designed at Syracuse China by C. McKaig (see page 264). To keep from wasting these old decals, Scammell began promoting the border design, with new crests in place of the old hotel signboard crest, to other potential customers. The Boston Store was one of the new customers using this border. At least one other customer used the border, but with a different tower illustration.

Scammell's 1931 Lamberton catalog includes Boston Store under their list of restaurant and tea room customers, meaning that this china service was made for use in the Boston Store restaurant when it opened in 1931.

BRASS RAIL, THE

Additional information on listed customer. 745 7th Ave. & 49th St., NYC. 8 Nevins & Fulton Sts., Brooklyn, NY. 5th Ave. & 43rd St. NYC. Other locations.

Service plate with center-of-well illustration of four men around table (See page 193). Oval version of illustration used on platters along with "The Brass Rail" in script lettering, mid rim. Blue verge line. 9 1/2" plates with center scene "The Brass Rail" with bar through letters in red, with red verge line (impressed "Trenton China" backstamp S-T-20). Scammell, Lamberton and Trenton base. Some supplied by L. Barth.

The Brass Rail was founded in 1925 by a group of business men with Edward Levine as president. The name for the restaurant came from a poem Mr. Levine heard on the radio in which a man put his foot on a brass rail. A 1940 menu in the collection of the New York Public Library contains illustrations of the four dining rooms at the 7th Ave. location. On the first floor was the Cocktail Lounge & Bar. The second floor featured the Sea Grill. The London Grill was located on the third. The fourth floor was devoted to the Continental Room, featuring dining and dancing. None of these dining rooms resemble the illustration on the plate and platter, suggesting it was a fantasy created to suggest earlier times. A 1936 postcard of the London Grill room shows plates with the center scene and a white rim on each table. A 1930s postcard shows a curved four-part, Art Deco, neon-illuminated marquee above the ground floor show windows and entrances.

In 1931, The Brass Rail began operating the food service at Jones Beach State Park under a subsidiary named Jones Beach Catering Corporation.

By 1935, The Brass Rail had the concession to operate the Tavern on the Green in Central Park under another subsidiary, The Central Park Catering Co.

At the 1939 New York World's Fair, The Brass Rail Company operated four restaurants with table service and bars, but these were operated by a subsidiary co-owned by Edward and his brother Julius M. Levine.

By 1946, there was another Brass Rail operating at 8 Nevins & Fulton Streets in Brooklyn, NY., which contained the Mirror Room.

Around April 21, 1946, a former Longchamps Restaurant at 423 Madison Ave. was converted into a Brass Rail Restaurant. It was operated by Madison Caterers, Inc., yet another subsidiary of Brass Rail Restaurants.

In 1947, a third location opened at 521 5th Ave. & 43rd St., with a total seating capacity of about 1,000. The ground floor contained a 75-foot long bar, cocktail lounge and dining room. The basement contained the Metropolitan Room and a men's grill. By 1959, an estimated 3,000 diners ate at this restaurant every day.

In 1950, a 850-seat Brass Rail was opened at 100 Park Ave. & 40th St. This was also a street level and basement layout featuring the Murray Hill Room, decorated with an early 20th century atmosphere. This time the bar was 100-foot long.

In the years following the closing of the Lamberton Works, The Brass Rail Company operated restaurants at the New York International Airport, Socony Mobil Building, The Trade Show Building, and other industrial locations. At the 1958 Brussel's World's Fair, they operated the dining room in the United States Pavilion. For the 1964-65 New York World's Fair, they operated six full service restaurants and 25 free-standing snack bars.

In 1961, Edward Levine sold the company to Interstate United Corporation. In 1972 he died at age 77.

Warwick China produced a pattern crested with an updated script "The Brass Rail" that has a foot bar running through the letters and supported by a bracket on each end. This is flanked by a latticework border band. The Warwick China pattern was supplied by Barth Equipment Co. (1928-1965). Scammell is not known to have supplied this pattern.

BREVOORT HOTEL, NEW

Additional information on listed customer. 120 W. Madison Street, Chicago, IL.

Crested with a curve-sided shield containing thistle blossom with 2 leaves. Thistles flanking outside of shield with ribbon bow & horizontal tails. "New" above curved "Hotel Brevoort" over shield. 5-point crown above lettering, flanked by large acanthus scrolls. #8056 New Brevoort Pattern. Scroll ornaments around rim, connected by pin lines (see page 532). All in Jefferson green. Maddock Lamberton China (M-L-2). Fragments of this pattern were found in Maddock's dump site #3.

#2242 Overglaze Hotel Brevoort border of small pink and red roses was another pattern that Maddock produced for this hotel This pattern features the crest in coin gold with a coin gold rim line. (See page 544.)

The Brevoort service plates are shown in the RWCN IDWIKI pattern identification page.

Another Lamberton pattern features cameos of ladies heads connected by swags and ribbon drops, which flank the logo.

The New Hotel Brevoort opened in September of 1906, replacing the original 5-story Brevoort House on Madison, between Clark & La Salle which opened in 1872. and burned down in 1905. The New Brevoort was 13 stories high and contained 350 rooms and 200 private baths. *When the New Brevoort opened the address was 143-145 E. Madison St. At some point the street was renumbered and the address became 120 W. Madison. Alexander Donnan Hannah & David Hogg, who were both born in Scotland, owned the original Brevoort at the time it burned, along with the Hannah and Hogg Liquor Co. They built the New Brevoort and the thistle design of the hotel crest reflects their Scottish heritage. The hotel closed around 1958. Then it was converted into an office building with the facade recalled in glass panels to make it appear to be a totally new building.

CAFE BOULEVARD

Additional information on listed customer. 41st St & Broadway, New York, NY.

The Maddock pattern sample book contains border #2277 "Cafe Boulevard," which is described as: Overglaze. Silver & blue. With two line silver band on edge and three line turquoise band directly under. (See page 552.) The pattern book's original decal sample was in blue and black. The same design, but in pink and gold, is #2280 created for the Hotel Severin in 1913.

H. Rosenfeld originally opened Cafe Boulevard as a Hungarian restaurant at 156 2nd Ave. & 10th Street, NYC, around 1895. This was a 4-story structure that was originally a townhouse. When the 9-story, 300-room Hotel Continental at 41st St. & Broadway opened around 1910, Mr. Rosenfeld moved Cafe Boulevard there. It was probably at this time that Maddock created border #2277 for the restaurant.

The New York Public Library's menu collection contains several menus from Cafe Boulevard with dates ranging from 1899 to 1914. The 1914 menu contains a 2-part shield crest with a wine glass and rampant lion on top.

Maddock's pattern book does not show or indicate that this crest was used on the china, so it may only contain border #2277.

CAFE MAX

13 Kneeland St. Boston, MA.

CONSOLIDATED GAS ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY OF BALTIMORE

Lexington & Liberty Sts. Baltimore, MD.

Crested with a black outlined curve-sided shield containing stacked "COOK" "WITH" "GAS." In red orange letters, outlined in black, and fitted to outline of shield. Black and yellow pin lines flanking crest. Maddock's American China Impressed (M-A-8).

This china service, which included 12" platters and large pitchers, was made around 1910 for use by the utility company to demonstrate to groups of women how well meals could be cooked on a gas range. The gas company wanted to convince women to switch from their coal or wood-fueled cook stoves to the cleaner, more convenient gas ranges that the company was selling in their retail store. Having women use gas for cooking would increase the amount of gas sold, which was the goal of the "Cook with Gas" promotion. This china service was also made available, on loan, to large groups that wanted to hold a banquet. This crested china may have been made for gas utility companies in other cities.

DETROIT CLUB

712 Cass St. Detroit MI.

Additional information on listed customer: Crested with decal straight-sided shield curving to point at bottom with wide blue frame containing gold stars. Background of alternating red & white chevron bars with foreground fleur de lis above walking lion. Adjoined, upper case, serif, "DC" monogram with shared right vertical stroke on D & left stroke of C. Placed slightly above top of shield. Blue rim band flanked by coin gold pin lines. Made by Maddock before 1917 and by Scammell with circa 1930s back-stamp (S - L - 15).

The 4-story Detroit Club building opened in 1891 with the dining room on the 3rd floor.

DETROIT YACHT CLUB - MISS LIBERTY II

Detroit, MI.

Crested with crossed burgees with "DYC" between red stripes on upper burgee. "M" with four small squares in corners, red stripe around outer edges of bottom burgee. Blue rim line. Scammell Ivory Lamberton China (S-I-27). Crest in blue transfer with hand-painted red lines.

Miss Liberty II was a 62-foot long, Great Lakes express cruiser built in 1920 by the Great Lakes Boat Building Corporation of Milwaukee. It was built for 42-year old Humphrey Birge of Buffalo. Mr. Birge's family owned M. H. Birge & Sons Co. (a major manufacturer of wallpaper with a large factory in Buffalo), as well as the Pierce Arrow Motor Car Co. Miss Liberty II contained an owner's stateroom, complete with shower. It could sleep four in the forward cabin, four in the after cabin, plus crew quarters for three. It was designed and used for motor boat racing on the Great Lakes. Mr. Birge was vice commodore of the Buffalo Launch Club. By October of 1924 Mr. Birge had Miss Liberty II up for sale. At that time his address was Santa Barbara, CA. In 1925, he built a large Spanish-style estate in Palm Springs and began investing in the motion picture business.

Exactly when Miss Liberty II was sold and who purchased it is unknown, but the new owner is the person who ordered this china service from Scammell. The "M" in the burgee suggests their name began with M, and he was a member of the Detroit Yacht Club. Because the cruiser only accommodated about a dozen people, this china order was very small and the oval serving bowl suggest meal service was family-style.

Information sources: 9" x 7" x 2" oval bowl on eBay, 9/24/15; Internet search - Motor Boating magazines - July 1920, Nov. 1920, July 1923, October 1924, and November 1924; The Motor Boat, Nov 25, 1920; Power Boating, June 1920.

Decal border band of orange poppies with green leaves, on a blue background. Lamberton China (Maddock). Supplied by John Wanamaker, Philadelphia.

The 7-story, 232-room Flanders opened July 28, 1923 as an American plan summer resort. For its 500-seat dining room Maddock produced an original order of 50 dozen (600) 8" rolled edge plates.

Information sources: 9 1/2" plate on eBay, 1 / 12 / 2017; D. William Scammell's New England contact book Ca 1923-1925, which lists the quantity of each item ordered; rampant lion in shield logo shown on matchbooks.

FRANCIS VIRGINIA TEA ROOM

Poplar and Peachtree Streets, Atlanta, Georgia.

Decorated with a cobalt border of vines, small leaves and flowers (or fruit?) that extends down into the verge. A medium-wide blue rim band appears to be part of the transfer, rather than applied by the liners. Backstamped in cobalt "Scammell's, Trenton china, Frances Virginia," plus impressed Scammell's Trenton China (S-T-20).

Frances Virginia Wikle Whitaker opened her Tea Room on Poplar Street on July 21, 1927. Five years later it moved to the top floor of the Collier Building at the corner of Peachtree and Ellis Streets. It was a 350-seat restaurant that became known as the "Queen of Tea Rooms." The Legendary Francis Virginia

Tea Room Cookbook, now in its 25th edition, by Millie Huff Coleman, contains recipes from this famous restaurant. Around 1937, the Tea Room began using a floral pattern china by Mayer which had originally been produced for the Montclair Hotel in New York City. The last pattern used in the Tea Room, before it closed in 1962, was Syracuse China's stock Concord Green pattern #98301.

Information sources: 9" plate on eBay 7/28/15; information on the Tea Room and china from Millie Huff Coleman, MA, CFCS, Arthor-Speaker-Foodways Herstorian.

FROST & DEARBORN COMPANY (RESTAURANT)

Additional information on listed customer. 6 Pearl Street Near Post office Square, Boston, Massachusetts.

Crested with stacked interlocking letters "F. D. Co." Blue "D," orange "F Co." #5065 ornaments placed around rim with connecting pinstripe in green and blue. Backstamped Lamberton China, Made Expressly for Frost & Dearborn Co. by Mitchell Woodbury Co. Boston.

The #5065 ornaments are listed in Maddock's sample book as "Frost & Dearborn," indicating that the pattern was originally created for them, or they were the first user of the design. Little information is available on Frost & Dearborn. They did advertise in the Jan. 24, 1911, issue of the Boston Evening Transcript that they had a Dutch and a German Room and a dining room for ladies. This advertisement stated that it was "Beautifully appointed, unique and artistic. Easily Boston's finest restaurant." The next day's specials were English mutton chop en casserole Carlton, at 50¢, and fried oysters, our style, at 40¢.

Information sources: 9" x 5" rectangular platter on eBay, with information on advertisement supplied by dealer, Theloosemoose, 7/14/15; photo listed as in collection of www.historicnewengland.org.

GEORGIAN, THE

Incorrectly listed as Georgian Terrace Hotel in Atlanta, GA. (See pages 157, 232 & 239)

Correct location is Park Square, Boston.

The Georgian was a five-story restaurant designed by well-known architect Clarence H. Blackall, who is best known for his many theater designs. It opened in 1912 and was shown in the December 4, 1912 issue of The American Architect magazine. At that time there was a large illuminated "The Georgian" sign above the cornice. An early postcard view shows the main dining room as two-story with a mezzanine below the arched ceiling. Bachelor dining rooms were also available. On this card George A. Dodge is listed as director. Later the Georgian had three locations in Boston, three in Cambridge plus restaurants or cafeterias in Brookline, Allston, and Springfield.

Information sources: A 1912 metal matchsafe on eBay 11/10/2016 with the "TG" crest as it appears on the china and "The Georgian" " Boston U. S. A."; illustration of facade, in The American Architect, December 4, 1912; postcard view of dining room on eBay, 11 / 7 / 2016.

HARBOR POINT CLUB HOUSE & HOTEL

Harbor Point, MI

Border of decal ornaments composed of green vines and leaves with pink flowers. Scammell Lamberton Ivory china (S-I-27). Supplied by Duparquet, New York City. Although the surviving examples of this china are on circa 1930s ivory body china, the design style of the ornaments is turn-of-the-century Art Nouveau. This may indicate that the surviving china is a reorder of an earlier order by Maddock's, or these could be decals in storage, left over from other china customers years earlier. The Duparquet backstamp includes "Design Patented," but this pattern has never shown up in research on patented designs issued to the Lamberton Works. It may be that the Duparquet backstamps used here were leftover decals from previous orders for that supplier.

Harbor Point Club House was built in 1896 by the Harbor Point Association as an American plan summer hotel. In 1913 it had about 250 rooms, and included a ballroom. By 1923, the room count had been reduced to 70. It closed in 1964 and was torn down. After the Club House Hotel closed, this china was used in the Harbor Point Golf Course Clubhouse. Because there was a large amount of this china not needed for the Golf Course, the excess was stored in the Harbor Point Lighthouse building, where a complete place setting is on display. After restoration of the lighthouse began in 1990, the remaining stock of leftover china was donated to the Holy Childhood Catholic Church, where it was offered for sale in their New Beginnings Thrift Shop.

HEALY'S RESTAURANT

42nd Street & Madison Ave., New York, NY.

The 1917 Maddock Pottery catalog lists Healy's as one of its New York customers. No additional information is given. William F. Healy was operating this restaurant as early as 1912. What this china pattern looked like is unknown at this point. The New York Public Library menu collection contains over 200 menus from Healy's. Some contain "Wm. F. Healy's 42nd St. Grill" in script lettering. Others, as early as 1917, contain a shield with a chevron containing 5 drop shapes. There are 2 unicorn heads above the chevron, 1 unicorn head below. A helmet is atop shield with flanking acanthus scrolls. Maddock Lamber-ton China. Unknown backstamp and distributor.

During the same time period, Thomas Healy was operating a different restaurant at Broadway & 66th St. This restaurant was named "Thomas Healy," but is sometimes referred to as "Healy's." Their crest is a shield with diagonal band containing "Thomas Healy." There is a lion standing on a ribbon bar above the shield, and a banner with "New York" below.

Began in 1901 by 17-year old William Augustus Hickey and his 12-year old brother, Dennis. First store was at 132 E. 3rd St. in Davenport, but quickly grew to additional locations. By 1951, there were 130 stores in 19 states. Some of the stores had soda fountains where lunches were served. The stores sold Whitman, Louis Sherry, and Maillard brand chocolates, in addition to cigars and smoking accessories.

The company colors were green & gold. Hickey Brothers closed all locations starting on March 19, 1957.

HILL SCHOOL “WHATSOEVER THINGS ARE TRUE”

Identification for motto in customer list. 717 E. High St. Pottstown, PA.

Crested with a shield with sides tapering down to a point. Illustration of mountaintop with sun rays at top of the mountain. Banner circling below with “Whatsoever Things are True.” Stylized sword hilt projecting above top of shield. In cobalt blue transfer with a cobalt rim band. Maddock China.

Hill school was founded in 1851 as boarding school for boys and young men. An early photograph of the Hill School dining rooms shows several rows of long tables.

“Whatsoever Things Are True” was taken from Philippians 4: 8. This motto was introduced by Alfred G. Rolfe, who was headmaster between 1911 and 1914. A fragment of this pattern was uncovered from the Maddock dump site #2 (1912-1921). It suggests that Maddock was the original maker of the pattern, which has also been produced by Shenango and Mayer.

Information sources. List of pieces found in dump site # 2 by Hunter Research. Mayer and Shenango examples of pattern on RWCN IDWiki pattern pages. Logo and school history on Hill School website.

INSIDE INN

1907 Jamestown Exposition Hampton Roads, VA.

Maddock, American or Trenton China?

INSURANCE COMPANY OF NORTH AMERICA

1600 Arch Street Philadelphia, PA.

Crested with vertical oval containing illustration of an eagle with head turned to left & wings spread. "INA" above head and "1792" at bottom (both tiny and blurred or difficult to read). In cobalt blue transfer. Cobalt blue rim band flanked by coin gold lines. Scammell Lamberton China (S-L-17) Supplied by John Wanamaker.

The Insurance Company of North America was founded in 1792 and incorporated in 1794. The oval with the eagle logo was originally used on cast iron plaques that were attached to homes insured by the company. At that time private fire companies were owned by the various insurance companies. If you had a fire and the fire company responded and you did not have their plaque on your house they would do nothing to put out the fire.

In 1925 the Insurance Company of North Americas' new 16-story office building at 1600 Arch Street opened. Scammell produced this china for these new offices. Around 2002 the building was converted into 264 condos and renamed The Phoenix Condo Building.

LANDLORD'S INN

Additional information on listed customer. Templeton, MA.

Crested with Emil Schnepf's border design patented in 1926 as patent # 70,195. The rust and gray green border band as well as the green rim and verge lines were done underglaze. After the glaze firing the china was sent back to the decorating department where the coin gold-framed portraits were applied, before the final firing and buffing. These ovals were not cut from the service plate decal, they were produced as a separate set of decals. There are at least five different men that appear on the known pieces in this border pattern. The #147, 8 oz bag-shape sugar bowls contain three known different portraits. In addition to the sugar bowls, this border is known to have been used on small plates, large and small oval bowls, round bowls, gravy boats, and domed hot cake covers. Border 70,195 was probably the main china service because of the sugar bowls, which would have been in place on the tables.

Portraits appearing on this pattern include:

#3 Henry N. Teague

#9 Herman L. Wood

#15 James W. Ricker

16 Edward C. Fogg

19 Frederick Wilkey

Crested with border #5098, is an Art Nouveau-inspired design of stylized green vines and leaves, with red flowers that was originally designed for the Rochester Country Club. Larger pieces have a center of the well floral element. The coin gold framed portraits are placed at the top of the rim. One known portrait appears on plates. Red rim and verge lines complete the border.

Portrait known to have been used on this pattern:

#9 Herman L. Wood

Crested with decal border #2294, is another Art Nouveau floral ornament design with green vines and leaves, pink flowers, and a mint green flowing line at the bottom of the ornament. It was originally designed for the Marshall Field & Co. tea room, in Chicago. Coin gold rim lines are used above the portraits. At least four different portraits were used with this border. The known pieces produced in this design are cups and saucers, and bouillon lining cups. The decoration on these bouillon cups is placed inside the bowl because the cups were used as liners in a silver-plated holder.

Portraits appearing on this pattern include:

#9 Herman L Wood

#11 William M. Kimball

#13 Clifford D. Perkins

#22 Frank L. Furness

134 S. Wabash Avenue and Adams Street, Chicago, IL

Crested with "Lander's" in dark green (or black?) script lettering, on upward slant. Outlined orange tan "L" and return tail stroke on "s." "Est. 1875," below return stroke, #8077 border (See pages 160 & 536). Impressed Scammells Trenton China and transfer printed Trenton China - Made Expressly for American China and Glassware Co.

Based on the crest, Lander's was established in 1875. In 1917, George Lander opened the Wabash Avenue location next door to the Palmer House Hotel. This location was on two floors, with a sunken dining room area flanked by upper level soda fountain and cocktail lounge. Lander's was still operating in 1958. In 1989, the building was renovated and Miller's Pub moved into the 270-seat restaurant.

Information sources: 6 1/2" plate on eBay, 10/3/2015; www.chicagopc.info; post card views; Miller's Pub website.

LANDWEHR'S RESTAURANT

Additional information on listed customer: 1140 River Road-Rt 29. Trenton/Ewing, NJ.

LAWYERS CLUB

Additional information on listed customer. 115 Broadway, New York, NY. Crested with a fasces & battle-ax illustration, flanked by upper case, san-serif "L" "C," as tall vertical letters with right-angle corners. The fasces is described in Webster's Collegiate Dictionary as "A bundle of rods having among them an ax with the blade projecting, borne before Roman magistrates as a badge of authority." The border is a band of connected X shapes with the background in the upper sections in orange brown, with drop-out white ornaments. Lamberton China, some production on Ivory base (S-I-29). Some pieces backstamped "Made Expressly for Lawyers Club Duparquet Huet & Moneuse Co. Later produced by Sterling China Co.

The New York Lawyers Club was originally located in the Equitable Building, which burned in 1912. In September of 1912 they relocated to the top two floors of the United States Realty Building at 115 Broadway. The double-height dining room was at the Broadway end of the building and contained a large stained glass window. The border on the china was probably designed to reflect the Gothic detailing of their new building.

LEONORI HOTEL

701 Madison Ave & 32 E. 64th St. New York, NY.

The Maddock pattern book contains #5095 "Leonori Border," which is composed of triple leaves with long curved stems and smaller double flower sprays with curved stems, in red & green. (See page 538.) The border flanks the Leonori's shield with helmet on top crest.

The Leonori opened in the summer of 1902 as an 11-story apartment hotel with 10 parlor/bedroom suites per floor. The dining room was located on the top floor until 1925, when it was moved to the ground floor and opened to the public. In 1981 the Leonori was converted into 67 condo apartments.

Hotel information source: New York Times, Feb. 14, 1988, article by Christopher Gray.

LIEDERTAFEL / CONCORDIA 1880 - 1905 SILVER JUBILEE

German American Singing Clubs located in Trenton, NJ & Wilkesbarre, PA.

A special event, 1-time production bowl, 17 1/2" x 9 1/2" with overall blue glaze. Names & dates in coin gold. Maddocks, Royal Porcelain, Lamberton Works (M- L - 1)

LITTLE BOHEMIA

1722 S. Loomis & 18th Streets, Chicago, Il & Mantowish Waters, WI.

Exactly when the Chicago Little Bohemia opened is not known, but by January of 1922 when R. Bezvo-da and Joseph Poisl took over, it was an established and well-known Chicago restaurant. At some point during the 1920s, Emil Wanatka bought the restaurant, which he sold to his business partner in 1930.

Mr. & Mrs. Wanatka then moved to Mantowish, WI, where they bought and began operating the 1927-built* Little Bohemia Lodge on May 27, 1933.

The original Loomas Street location bar and dining room was still operating in 1949, with a neon sign featuring the logo lettering still in place. This same logo was used on a sign board at the Mantowish location, which is still operating in 2014.

Maddock China was the original maker of this pattern. Liberty China with green and red pin lines, also supplied by Albert Pick, was made later, as was McNicol China. * (Note: some sources list 1915 as built date for the Manitowish location. Whenever it was built it appears likely that that both locations were originally owned by the same person and the china was produced for use in both locations.)

LONG-BELL LUMBER CO.

Additional information on listed customer: Multiple locations.

Crested "Long-Bell"™ logo in green. #7005 Carlton scroll ornament with decorative connecting band. (See page 156) Maddock Lamberton China. (L 10). Founded 1887 by Robert A. Long & Victor Bell, in Columbus Kansas.

In 1907 the 16-story R. A. Long Building was built in Kansas City, MO, for use as corporate offices. By 1934, Long-Bell owned 13 lumber mills plus sash and door factories in several states. In 1957 they sold out to International Paper Co.

Where this china was used is not known. It could have been used in the Kansas City headquarters building, but there is no mention of a dining room in the National Register of Historic Places nomination form. Long-Bell built & owned the Monticello Hotel in Longview, WA, in 1923, but it had hotel crested china by Maddock.

LOS ANGELES COUNTRY CLUB

10101 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, CA

LOUVRE, THE

Powell & Eddy Streets, NW corner, San Francisco, CA.

Crested with "The Louvre" in black script lettering on upward slant. Large "L" with lower loop stroke extending under rest of "ouvre." Black rim line with red pin line below. Maddock Lamberton china (M-L-2).

The Louvre restaurant was founded around 1884 by Charles A. Zinkand. By 1903 it was located in the lower level of the St. Ann's Building and was operated by Meyerfeld & Co., with Jesse Meyerfeld as president & manager. It advertised itself as "San Francisco's leading restaurant and cafe," with a concert every evening. The April 18, 1906, earthquake and fire destroyed St. Ann's Building and the restaurant. It reopened at 1350 Fillmore & Eddy Streets, and in November 1910 was renamed Portola-Louvre.

A 1904 postcard shows the lettering exactly as it appears on the china service. The later location at Fillmore & Eddy Streets used a slightly different style of lettering that had a small "The" in the top loop of the larger script "L." This points to Maddock's china having been produced for the pre-earthquake restaurant.

Information sources: San Francisco Bay Area Post Card Club newsletter, January 2008 Vol XXIII, No 1. Portola-Louvre article by Deanna L. Kastler. 1904 Powell & Eddy Streets postcard & Fillmore & Eddy location folder. AOL image search. Creamer on eBay 8/16/14.

Additional information on listed customer (See page 173.) 38th Street between Broadway & 6th Ave., NY, NY.

In 1909, Julius Keller, who arrived in New York from Switzerland in 1880 at age 16, bought what was then named the Cafe de France. Four previous owners had failed in trying to make what had begun as Cafe des Ambassadeurs a success. Julius soon changed the name to Maxim's, which he 'lifted' from the famous Paris establishment. With waiters uniformed as servants to Louis XVI and an orchestra to entertain his dinner guests, he was soon able to make the new Maxim's successful. It is reported that every year on New Year's Eve the guests got to take home one of these Maddock service plates. Maxim's closed in 1920.

The rest of the china service that went with the service plate (see page 173) was crested with a miniature version of the large crest in the center of the well on the service plate. This small crest was placed below the verge at the 3 o'clock position on platters. The border contains three #7010 torch and circle ornaments (page 519) spaced around the rim and connected by a green pin line. Green rim line. Maddock's American China, supplied by Albert Pick & Co.

Point Road at Manomet Point, Plymouth, MA. *

Crested with a profile illustration of an early open motor car with convertible top, in red and black. "Mayflower" over "Inn," curved below between wheels. Mid-rim black and yellow (?) pin lines with curled ends flanking logo. Maddock Lamberton China (M-L-2). Supplied by Mitchell, Woodbury Co. Boston, MA.

*Customer identification is not positive, but it appears that the china was made for the 170-room Mayflower Inn in Plymouth, MA, which opened in June of 1917. From 1917 until at least 1931, the Plymouth Inn advertised in Automobile Blue Books, which were designed as guides for trips by automobile.

The 3-story wooden Inn was torn down in 1975 after a series of fires.

MAYFLOWER SHOPS, THE

Additional information on listed customer: New York City.

Crested with illustration of Mayflower sailing ship with "The Mayflower Shops" curved above. All in red. Scammell Trenton China (S T 26). Matches Iroquois China pattern shown on RWCN idwiki #3.

MCCALLISTER & SONS, D. F.

Additional information on listed customer. 1811-1817 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, PA.

There are two known patterns for this customer, which was a caterer. For formal occasions, such as weddings, the pattern features an overglaze band of stylized flowers, leaves and dots. This pattern was also used at the Waldorf-Astoria (See page 204). It has a wide coin gold band at the rim, and a coin gold pin line at the verge. This china service included butter pats and demi cups and saucers. Ivory Lambertson (S-I-29). Some pieces are backstamped "D. F. McCallister & Sons" above "Phila."

For less formal occasions, Scammell's Trenton China (S-T-23) was used. This pattern is crested with "McCallister" in black or dark green (?) script letters on a curve. There is a wide red band flanked by red pin lines with curved ends, flanking the crest.

David Franklin McCallister (1863-1946), was born in South Philadelphia. In 1890, at age 27, he opened a small cake and candy store at 20th & Reed streets. He later expanded his business into a catering operation, which became the largest in Philadelphia. For Philadelphia's 1926 Sesqui-Centennial Exposition, his firm served an opening day luncheon for 6,000 people and fed the more than 3,800 soldiers stationed there during the 3-month period. McCallister's operations were based at 1811-1817 Spring Garden St. When D. F. McCallister, Sr. died, just short of his 83rd birthday, his son David Jr. was a partner in the company. David Jr. died four months later, but the company continued to operate until at least 1969.

MCKELVEY'S DEPARTMENT STORE

Federal St., Youngstown, OH

Crested with "McKelvey's" in script letters with long swish on upper part of "K", swish extending back toward beginning of name on "y." Red letters outlined in black. Black and red pin lines with curve ends, flanking logo, mid-rim. Impressed Maddock's Trenton China.

M McNALLY-DOYLE

Additional information on listed customer. 65th & Euclid Ave., Cleveland, OH.

The customer list in Scammell's 1931 catalog has McNally-Doyle Co. listed under Restaurants and Tea Rooms. An Internet search turns up scant information on this customer, which was founded in 1910 by Nellie McNally and Clara Doyle in Cleveland, Ohio, as a caterer. By 1931, their address was 1272 Euclid Ave. A 1937 John Carroll University program contains an advertisement stating, "Famous Candies & Pastries" and "All Stores," which suggests there were several store locations. One of their candy tins contains a triangle shape logo, containing "McN D" in script letters. A panel with "Superieur" is below the triangle. The 1940 Cleveland business directory again listed them as "Caterers." It would appear that in addition to making candy, they had retail stores that served food on Lambertson china produced by Scammell.

A RED FOX website shows china crested with a standing fox, wearing a black vest & bow tie. A black walking stick is held by one paw. An ashtray with this illustration, plus "McNally Doyle" and "Red Fox" in red script letters is shown, but there is no mention of the maker or view of any backstamp. This was the Red Fox Inn in Gates Mills, OH, which operated from the 1950s until it burned down in 1982.

Additional information on listed customer: 9th & Olive Sts. St. Louis, MO.

Cresting, if any unknown. Listed as customer in Maddock's 1917 Lamberton catalogue.

James Hugh McTague (1858-1926) began his restaurant, which he named "Cafe McTague's," in August of 1897. It was located in the basement of the-then new Century Building. This was one of the first attempts at operating a high-class restaurant in a basement. The restaurant was very successful for a while, but closed by 1918. www.mini-mug.com/restaurants--cafes.html.

MEADOW BROOK HUNT CLUB

Additional information on customer listed as M B H. Originally Westbury, NY, now Cedar Swamp Road, Jericho, NY.

Crested with a circle containing uppercase, sans serif, "MBH" in center. "1881" above. Hunting horn shape below. Rim and verge lines. Transfer and lines in unknown color. Scammell Lamberton S-L-13.

Founded in 1881 in Westbury, Long Island, as Meadow Brook Hunt Club. In 1953 moved to new golf course location in Jericho, NY. At some point, "Hunt" dropped from name, but "H" remains on logo.

Information source: History and logo on club website, www.meadowbrookclub.com. Logo shown, but with "1881" and hunting horn in reversed positions.

MEDICAL COLLEGE OF SOUTH CAROLINA

Queen St. Charleston, SC.

Crested with circle logo composed of an illustration of kneeling man kindling a torch from a flame on an altar. Sun rays above the figure symbolize Apollo, god of sun and healing.

"Auget Largiendo" (The university enriches by giving generously) circles around the top. With "Univ. Med. Car. Aus. 1823" below the illustration. In brown transfer. Brown rim line and verge pin line. Scammell Lamberton, Ivory body.

The Medical College (now University) of South Carolina was founded in Charleston in 1823.

Mint green verge & base line. Scammell Lamberton China, S-L-13. Supplied by American China & Glassware Co., Chicago.

Mrs. Lizzie Pitts Merrill Palmer (Oct. 8, 1838-July 28, 1916) left a bequest to found the Merrill-Palmer Motherhood and Home Training School. The school was established in 1920 in the former mansion of Charles Lang Freer. The Merrill-Palmer School focused on serving children through formal academic programs in infant, toddler, child and adolescent development, and in family functioning. Later it became the Merrill Palmer Skillman Institute. (MPSI) In 1981 MPSI was incorporated into Wayne State University where it continues to operate.

So far only demi cups and saucers have been found with this crest.

MID-DAY CLUB

Additional information on listed customer. 925 Euclid and E. 9th St., Cleveland, OH.

Crested with interconnected "MDC" monogram, with right vertical stroke on "M" shared as left vertical stroke on "D". Smaller "C" connected at bottom. Lines or other decorative elements unknown as the only known example is the logo on a Scammell sample plate. Scammell Lamberton, Ca 1924.

The 400-seat dining room of the Mid-Day Club opened on the 21st floor of the Union Trust Building in Cleveland in 1924. It was a large rectangular room with windows on three sides below an arched ceiling. In 1991 the former private club was converted into a public restaurant named "Metropolitan."

Information sources: Pre 1962 matchbook cover with slightly different arrangement of monogram letters within same style frame. Logo shown on a Scammell sample plate. Listed as customer in 1931 Lamberton catalog.

MILWAUKEE COUNTRY CLUB

Additional information on listed customer: 8000 N. Range Line Rd. River Hills/Milwaukee, WI.

Cresting, if any unknown, but club crest is a concave/convex-sided shield curving down to point. Containing diagonal bar with illustration of bag of golf clubs. Fox head in upper left. Tennis racket lower right. Tree ? above curved top. Banner curved below with Milwaukee C.C. Founded 1894. Listed in 1931

Lamberton catalog.

MINNIE W III (LYMAN E. WARREN)

Additional information on listed customer.

Crested with center of well circle with overglaze, multi-color illustration of young lady*. "Minnie W" over "III" in coin gold below circle. Multi-color Art Nouveau - style border with swirls and flower sprays in pinks & blues. (same decoration as on Wallick Hotel service plate, only difference is "Minnie W" "III" in place of Wallace's). Maddock Lamberton China (M - L - 2).

The Minnie W III was a 83 foot-long wooden hull, screw propelled, steamer that was built for Lyman E. Warren, and launched in 1913. It replaced his former "Minnie W", a 70' twin screw steamer, that he owned in 1910.

This china was made for the yacht in 1913. Exactly how many people it's dining room could seat is unknown, but there were probably not more that a dozen or two of the plates ordered.

For some unknown reason Mr Warren did not own Minnie W. III very long. By 1914 it was owned by fellow New York Yacht Club member Samuel M. Nicholson, who renamed it Lady Warwick. He replaced it with a smaller 45-foot powerboat which he name just Minnie W.

A search of the internet turned up only a few details relating to Lyman E. Warren.

An article in a December 1893 New York Times mentions Mr & Mrs. Lyman Warren, but I don't have a subscription so I don't know what that article is about.

On October 24, 1901 Mr Warren joined the New York Yacht Club.

By 1910 he owns a yacht named Minnie W.

"The Elite of New York", a book published in 1915, provided the most information. Lyman E. Warren is listed as living at 473 West End Ave. There is no Mrs. Warren mentioned, but Miss Minnie Warren is listed. Turns out Minnie was the Warren's daughter, and the person he named his yachts in honor of. I wonder if Mrs Warren died around 1913-1914, which motive Mr. Warren to dispose of his new yacht and replace it with a smaller one?

The 1918 New York Yacht Club Directory does not list Lyman Warren as a member.

MOHAWK LODGE # 200 INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS

Marcela, OR.

Crested with a multi-color decal head of Native American, facing to left. Crossed tomahawks below. "Mohawk" " Lodge" below logo. Blue line flanked by red pinlines, with curled ends, flanking logo, mid rim. Impressed 'American China' backstamp. Supplier: Frederick & Nelson, Seattle, WA. 1911.

Mohawk Lodge # 200 was founded October 18, 1907 in Marcela, Oregon, which is located on the Mohawk River. Initially it had 6 charter members and 47 initiations. Membership had grown to 87 by the time the Lodge opened their new 2-story club house on July 29,1911. The 20' x 36' dining room was located on the 2nd floor. On December 2, 1936, the Mohawk Lodge consolidated with Lodge # 76.

MONMOUTH COUNTY COUNTRY CLUB

Eatontown, NJ, Monmouth County, New Jersey.

Crested with transfer circle divided into 3 sections, with 2 sections on top that form a round top "M." 1 section below forming flat top "C." Illustration of lady playing golf in upper left. Polo player on horse upper right. 2 flat top "C" s in lower section, 1 inside the other. "Monmouth County" curved around top of circle. "Club" around bottom. "Country" in horizontal cross section. All in blue with dropout white lettering. Border band of spiral curved blue ribbon with dropout white design on ribbon ends, flanking logo. Scammell Lamberton (S-L-13.)

This club was incorporated in 1917 as Suneagles. Construction of the clubhouse started in October of 1923. In the 1930s, it was renamed Monmouth County Country Club. The U. S. Army purchased the club in 1942, making it part of Fort Monmouth.

MONTCLAIR COUNTRY CLUB

Additional information on listed customer. 25 Prospect Ave. West Orange, NJ.

Crested with interlocking blue "CC" monogram with crossed golf clubs and golf ball. "M" in red upper-case, serif letter, in center of blue monogram. Blue border band with drop-out white leaves and berries. Red orange lines flanking blue border. Scammell Lamberton China S-L _ 13. Listed as customer in 1931 Lamberton Catalog.

MONTICELLO, HOTEL

Additional information on listed customer. 1405 17th Ave. & Larch St., Longview, WA.

Crested with Blue side-by-side "HM" monogram outlined with red. Left stroke on 'H' and right stroke on 'M' curve to fit sides of shield. Monogram is within red orange outlined shield frame. Thin green and red vine and leaf band flanking logo mid rim, with urn ornaments containing pink flowers, spaced at compass points around rim. Thick rim and thin green verge lines. Maddock Lamberton China. "M" in shield Lamberton, (M-L-5) "Made for Hotel Monticello Long View Wash. Furnished by Albert Pick & Co. Chicago." (all in red).

The Monticello was built by the Long-Bell Lumber Company and opened in 1923. The 6-story Georgian Revival hotel originally contained 140 rooms, a dining room, coffee shop, and ballroom. Long-Bell built it as a place for visiting lumber-related businessmen to stay.

MORIN'S LUNCH

Mill Street, Attleboro, MA *

Decorated with #6066 Chrysanthemum Border (See page 575), in green and gray with dark and light blue mum flowers. Backstamped "Made Expressly for Morin's Lunch Mitchell Woodbury Boston MA." The one known example, a 9" x 13 1/2" platter, does not contain any Maddock backstamp.

* Customer identification is not positive, but history information on Morin's Hometown Bar & Grill website makes it the very likely customer match. Morin's was founded in 1911 by Jean Baptiste Morin as the 12-stool Franklin Diner.

MOUNT IDA SCHOOL

Newton, MA.

Crested with a circle, with shield in center of green inner circle. Open book within shield. Mustard gold sunrise atop shield. "MOUNT IDA SCHOOL" in green, around outer circle. 2 green lines flanking logo, mid rim. Maddock Lamberton (M - L - 2). Supplied by Mitchell Woodbury, Boston.

Mount Ida School for Girls was founded in 1899. By 2017 renamed Mount Ida College.

Information sources. 8 7/8" plate on eBay, 7/13/2017. Logo in stained glass window on early postcard of lounge. Updated logo with book in shield, as used by college in 2017.

MRS. RORER'S

Additional information on listed customer: Coffee/restaurant. St. Louis World's Fair & elsewhere?

Crested with heart-shape yellow frame containing portrait of Mrs. Sara Tyson Rorer. "Mrs. Rorer's" curved above frame. "Own Blend" over "Coffee" curved below frame, in black. Maddock's American China.

Sara Tyson Rorer (1849-1937) operated the 1,200-seat "The Model" restaurant and "Mrs. Rorer's Cafe" at the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair. She compiled 54 cookbooks. By 1910, Climax Coffee and Baking Powder Co. was marketing "Mrs. Rorer's Own Blend Coffee" in packages with the exact same logo on their label.

Climax was founded in Indianapolis in 1894 by Harry Gates. Exactly where this china was used is unknown, but it seem possible that it was somehow connected with the Climax-brand coffee. Harry Gates was also part owner of both the Severin Hotel in Indianapolis, which opened in 1913, and the Miami Hotel in Dayton, OH, which opened in 1915. Both of these hotels had china made by Maddock Pottery, so there may have been some connection with Climax coffee being served in the hotels?

MUNARGO LINE CO. (STEAMSHIP)

Decorated with a swag and ornament border in blue transfer. Backstamped “Munargo Line Co.” in blue. By Scammell on Trenton base. This steamship company was formed as a division of the United Fruit Co. after the Munson Line shut down operations. It only operated from 1938 until 1940, with just one ship, SS Munargo. The 295-passenger S S Munargo was built in 1921.

Information source. www.maritimecommissary.com. oval platter.

NAPOLI

Possible location of listed customer? Naples section of Long Beach, CA.

Crested in gray green transfer. “Napoli” in upper and lower case letters, with fancy N at top of rim, below #170 New Buckingham border. Maddock’s American China.

The four-story Mission Revival/Craftsman-style Hotel Napoli was built in 1909 for Miss Almira Parker Hershey at a cost of $87,000. For some reason, Miss Hershey, who was very wealthy, never opened the hotel. It remained completed but unused until after she sold it in 1927. Then it was refurbished and opened in 1929 as the Hotel Naples. It closed in 1931 and remained empty until it was torn down in 1959.

Although the 1909 construction date fits the time frame for Maddock’s use of the American china name, there is nothing that has been found to connect the style of the “Napoli” lettering on this china with this hotel. Because the hotel did not open there was nothing printed that could serve as a match with the china. If this china was made for the hotel it could have been delivered to the hotel, but never used.

Information sources: 7 3/4” platter on eBay 5/06, and 9” plate on eBay 9/15; internet search for information on hotel and Miss Hershey.

NASSAU CLUB

Additional information on listed customer: 6 Mercer St. Princeton, NJ.

Crested with ornate silhouette of a rampant lion, facing to left, within a convex/concave outline frame. Lion in orange with thin black outline. Black frame. A series of small angled parallelograms surround the lion. Black, orange, black pin lines with curled ends, flanking logo. Crested china fragment found at Maddock dump site matches crest used on 1979 anniversary book cover.

Club founded 1889. In 1911, a new, enlarged dining room opened. Nassau Club’s website in 2014 shows the rampant lion facing to right.

NASSAU GUN CLUB

A branch of the Nassau Club founded to shoot only clay pigeons. Their dining room used china crested with a coin gold lion within a blue circle, in center of well. Gold rim and verge lines. Ivory Scammell Lambertson China (S-1-29). Backstamped “Nassau Gun Club” in blue.

NATIONAL CITY BANK OF NEW YORK

Crested with a horizontal oval containing a scene with figures in center, "The National City Bank" above "Of New York" around outer ring. Scrolls above & below oval. All in blue transfer. Coin gold and blue rim lines. Lamberton Scammell China (S L 13). Furnished by B. Altman & Co. New York.

National City Bank (now Citibank) was the successor to a bank founded in 1863. In 1908, they moved into a newly enlarged 1841 building at 55 Wall Street, which served as headquarters until 1961. 9 7/8" plates have been offered on eBay.

NEW YORK NAVAL MILITIA

Brooklyn, NY?

Crested with a horizontal diamond frame made of rope with knots at corners. Contains an anchor with curled rope in center. Flanked by "N" "Y" In black outlines and light blue centers. Flanking mid-rim twin blue pin lines. Also produced with red background and white letters, with black and red pin lines flanking logo. Maddocks American China.

This Naval National Guard organization began operating in 1891 and continues in operation today. The china may have been used at the First Avenue Armory, 1st Ave, between Flatbush Avenue and 52nd Street in Brooklyn, which was built around 1904. Or it could have been used on various training vessels.

Information sources: www.thepirateslair.com. Items on eBay 2008 & 2009.

NEW YORK YACHT CLUB

37 W. 44th St. New York, NY & Newport, RI

Crested with burgee pennant with a red cross dividing it into four blue sections. White star in center of cross. Yellow flag staff. Blue rim line. Scammell Lambertson Ivory china (S-I-29).

The New York Yacht Club was founded in 1844. The present club house at 37 W. 44th St., opened in 1901. They have another club house in Newport, Rhode Island where nearly identical crested china is still being used. This pattern was also produced by Mayer China.

Because there were many very wealthy members of this club who had their own large private yachts, the club's burgee appears on many china services produced for these yachts. These china services were produced by many makers other than Maddock and Scammell, including Minton, and Johnson Brothers of England. When J. Pierpont Morgan was Commodore of the yacht club in 1897 he commissioned a 220-piece service for his yacht Corsair from Minton China. This service included such unusual items as 14 asparagus platters, 10 oyster platters. The 6" tall tea-pot sold in 2011 for $42,000.

Among the known private yachts of New York Yacht Club members with crested china that was produced by the Lambertson Works are:

■ Widel

Crested with a three-section signal flag. The upper left square section contains a blue "B" against a red background. the lower left square contains a red "D" against a yellow background The larger right section contains a large "L" in yellow against a dark blue background. "WILDEL " in black letters is below the flag. A cobalt blue band outlined with coin gold flanks the crest. Coin gold rim line. Scammell Ivory (S-I-27)

Name of owner unknown, but he was a member of NYYC.

■ "W" ?

Crested with 2 burgees, one with "W" in center. New York Yacht Club burgee below. (See page 489).Maddock Lambertson china, before 1920. Unknown member and yacht name.

■ ?????

ORDER OF UNITED AMERICAN MECHANICS - DAUGHTERS OF AMERICA

Unknown location - Tiffin, OH - Pittsburgh, PA?

Crested with decal logo of a shield frame with 13 white stars against blue background in upper section, 13 alternating red and white vertical stripes in lower section. Overlapping compass and square with arm holding hammer in center of shield, in blue.

The order was founded July 8, 1845, in Philadelphia as a Nativist fraternity, which was an anti-immigrant, anti-Catholic organization. Although the logo is similar to the Masonic logo, sources differ on how much, if any, connection it had with the Masonic Order when it was founded. In 1853, the Junior Order of United American Mechanics began. In 1891, the Daughters of America was founded as a branch of the Junior Order. Exactly where this china was used is unknown. The Daughters started a home in Tiffin, Ohio, around 1907. The 5-story Eureka Building, which was built in Pittsburgh around 1924, contains a series of exterior panels with this logo.

PENNANT CAFE

Sexton/Dixon Hotel, S. E. corner of Baltimore and 12th Streets, Kansas City, MO.

Crested with three baseball-theme elements spaced around rim. (#1) two ballplayers flanking a ball diamond containing illustration of tiger, or cat head? resting on a torse ribbon bar and Old English-style green "S." (#2) crossed baseball bats and cap. (#3) orange baseball. Flanking each illustration are orange squares forming a cross shape with line down to a square at the verge. Orange pin lines connect these square ornaments. Dark green rim line. Maddock American China (impressed M-A-8). Supplied by Beamish Glassware Co. of Kansas City. Pieces in this china service ranged from 15 1/2" platters down to individual creamers. This pattern was also made by Shenango China.

The Pennant Cafe was located in the basement of the Sexton Hotel and the adjoining Dixon Hotel (Kling-Allen Building). Built by former Chicago Cubs catcher John G. Kling and Holly B. (Benny) Allen.

Benny Allen operated a billiard hall on the second and third floors, while John Kling operated the Pennant Cafe. The Pennant was totally decorated in a baseball theme, with square columns decorated with oversize bats and balls. The grass green tile floor in the bar contained two white tile baseball diamond shapes. The white tile floor of the cafe had colored tile inserts containing bats, balls and catchers' masks. The walls contained murals of famous American ballparks. Ceiling fixtures were composed of a circle of hanging baseball bats with glass globes decorated with the stitching pattern used on baseballs. The article with the above details, written by Paul Bradford, ends with "All of the chinaware used in this cafe is specially made and specially designed and carries the baseball effect throughout."

The six-story Sexton was built around 1907. The adjoining Dixon Hotel, on the corner, was built in 1912. The Dixon was a seven-story structure, but is shown on some early postcards as 10-story. The Pennant Cafe with marquees above the two entrances is shown in a 1915 photograph.

PLAZA

500 N. 9th Street, Terre Haute, Indiana? or 231 N. Capitol Ave., Indianapolis, Indiana?

Crested with "PLAZA" in red orange letters outlined in black. Within a gray green leaf wreath with thin tan ribbon ends at bottom. Tan line with curled ends flanked by black lines, mid rim, flanking logo. Impressed American China backstamp. Supplied by Hollweg & Reese (in green transfer lettering).

Because Hollweg & Reese, the supplier, was located in Indianapolis, an Indiana location for this Plaza would be the probable location. The most likely choice is the Plaza in Terre Haute, which was built before 1909. It contained 110 rooms in 1923. Not much other information is available on this Plaza Hotel. By 1944, it became part of the Milner Hotel chain and was renamed Milner Hotel.

The 132-room Plaza Hotel in Indianapolis was much closed to Hellweg & Reese, but it was built in 1913 and opened in 1914. An envelope from 1916 contains "New Plaza Hotel" in a different style typeface. Maddock's use of "American" as an impressed backstamp ended around 1913, when it was changed to "Trenton China." Based on the available information, the Terre Haute Plaza seems the most likely customer.

Information source: oval platter on eBay, 9/9/2015.

PORT ARTHUR RESTAURANT

Additional information on listed customer: Downtown, Providence, RI.

Crested with "Port Arthur" in Jefferson green. #7010 Ornaments in green with connecting pin line (see page 157). 1 Jefferson green band at edge of rim. All underglaze. Scammell Trenton China. Supplied by Tilden-Thurber Corp. According to Scammell's New England contact book dated 9/10/1925, the order was for 100 Doz. 6 1/2" plates, 100 Doz. 5" plates, 50 Doz. 4" plates, 50 Doz. 6" plates, 20 Doz. 6 1/2" soup plates & 150 Doz. individual butters.

This Chinese restaurant was opened by Yat K. Tow (1912-1990) in 1926. Based on the dates, this would have been the original china order for Port Arthur. Of the 5,640 pieces ordered, 1,800 were putter pats. It would seem that Mr. Tow expected a lot of the butters to find their way to customers' homes following a meal in the restaurant, and considered them a good way to advertise the Port Arthur. In the world of Jazz, Port Arthur is remembered as the place where trumpeter Bobby Hackett began his career in 1929, at age 14.

The Tow family also owned Ming Garden and Great House, so it is quite possible that Scammell also supplied china to these restaurants.

POUGHKEEPSIE YACHT CLUB

Additional information on listed customer. Hyde Park, NY.

Crested with wheel, anchor and burgee decal logo with "Poughkeepsie" "Yacht Club" encircling the wheel. Blue rim line, thin red verge line. Maddock Lamberton (M - L - 2 & M - L - 4) 9 1/4" service plate contains center-of-well engraving of the exterior of the clubhouse at water's edge, in black.

PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL (SCHOOL OF NURSING)

Additional information on listed customer. Riverside Drive, New York, NY.

Crested with a green background circle containing drop-out white interlocking "Ph" monogram. Outlined laurel leaf wreath around outside of circle. 4 rectangle outlines forming cross ends behind wreath.

“Salus Generis Humani” (Health General Humanity) curved below circle. Gray green transfer. Double gray green pin lines flanking logo, or at rim. Scammell Trenton China. Covered bowls and creamers were part of this service.

The school of nursing was founded in 1892. Maxwell Hall, a new 10-story nurses’ residence, opened around 1927. This service may have been used there, but the covered bowl suggests this was the china used for patient room food service within the new 22-story hospital.

PRIVATE ESTATE COFFEE

Cauchois’ Fulton Mills, 21-34 Fulton Street New York, NY.

Crested with coffee bag logo with “Private Estate Coffee” label in brown and red. (See page 491.) Maddock Lamberton china.

F. A. Cauchois & Co. was founded in 1851 as a wholesale and retail dealer in coffee, tea and spices. This crested china may have been use in their retail locations, or offered as an advertising promotion. By 1910 the company was distributing post cards of important New York City buildings with the coffee bag logo appearing on the front of the card. They also offered pocket knives with their company name and Private Estate brand name on the sides.

Information sources: Postcards with brand name logo on eBay; New York Times newspaper articles.

PROMENADE RESTAURANT

Additional information on listed customer: Boston Airport (Logan). East Boston, MA.

RACQUET CLUB OF PHILADELPHIA

Identification and additional information on listed customer. 215 S. 16th St. Philadelphia, PA.

Crested with crossed round-top shape racquets, with small ball between bottom of handles, and flanked by "R" "C" in upper case, Old English-style letters. All in red transfer. Thick red rim band with pin line. Scammell Trenton china and probably Maddock china supplied by John Wanamaker in 1907.

The Racquet Club of Philadelphia was founded in 1889. Their present Georgian-style red brick clubhouse opened in 1907. The crossed racquet and ball logo appears above the entrance. John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia and New York, supplied the original china service in 1907. A creamer, the one known example of this service, does not contain the Maddock Pottery backstamp. The 1931 Scammell Lamberton catalog list the Racquet Club as a customer.

Mayer China produced an updated version of the crossed racquets within a shield logo in 1961.

RCA RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA

201 Washington Rd., Princeton, NJ

Additional information on listed customer

This china, crested with the RCA circle trademark logo, was used in the employee cafeteria at the David Sarnoff RCA Research Center. Ground was broken and construction began on this large 3-story facility in 1941.

RANDOLPH, EDMUND (PRIVATE YACHTS)

New York Yacht Club, New York, NY.

Crested with Crossed burgee flags. New York Yacht Club red and blue burgee, with yellow star, on left. Mr Randolph's burgee with alternating red and blue diagonal stripes on right. Gold flag poles. Maddock china.

Edmund Randolph joined the New York Yacht Club in 1894. He is listed in the 1921 directory as a member, but not listed in 1922. Mr Randolph had at least four yachts on which this china may have been used:

1903, "SCUD," a 85' steamer.

1904 "APACHE," 168'. Built in Scotland in 1890. In 1905 It won the Kaiser's Trans-Atlantic Yacht Race, and received the $5,000 gold cup. That was before it ran into Mr Astor's yacht., later in the year.

1911 - 1917, "ELLEN" , a 67' twin screw power boat.

1912-1915, "SPARTAN" a 72' boat.

RCA RADIOTRON CO. INC

Harrison, NJ (Additional pattern for listed customer)

This pattern, decorated with patented border DES 68,994 on Ivory body, is identified by its backstamp "Made Expressly For, RCA RADIOTRON CO. INC." It was supplied by Duparquet of NYC.

Radiotron was located in Harrison, NJ. This plant, at the corner of Bergen St. & 5th Ave., was built by Thomas Edison's company back in 1882 to produce electric light bulbs. In 1929 the light bulb factory, which by that point was owned by General Electric, moved out of the facility. In 1930 the newly formed Radio Corporation of America (RCA) subsidiary, Radiotron, Inc. took over the 26-building complex that was spread over 9.5 acres. RCA used this factory to mass produce glass vacuum tubes for radios. There were probably several employee dining rooms located throughout the factory complex, and exactly where this china was used is not known. The Ivory body, which had just been introduced to the Lambertton line, suggests that it was not used in a cafeteria setting.

Information sources: 7" plate on eBay, 3 / 7 / 17; Harrison, NJ location identified by email from Hoag Levins.

RED SHIELD FARM

Sands Station Road, Wallkill, NY.

Crested with "Red Shield Farm" in black Old English-style lettering above a multicolor Rothschild family crest. ("Rothschild" in German translates to "Red Shield" in English). Coin gold pin line along rim, wide gray stripe flanked by a red pin line. Scammell's Ivory Lambertton (S-I-27).

The Middletown Times Herald for Monday, June 4, 1931, contains an article on page 3 about Sigmund Rothschild, who had purchased the old Miller farmhouse, a 90 acre property, on Sands Station Road at Midland Lake, which he was renovating and renaming Red Shield Farm. Mr. Rothschild, age 43, was a well-known collector of stamps, a writer, lecturer, and broadcast a hobby-themed radio show on WOR in New York City, which had been on the air for eight years. The Feb. 25, 1935, Middletown Times Herald contains a small mention that "Sig Rothschild has closed Red Shield Farm in the town of Wallkill and is now living on Cottage St." So far no information has turned up about exactly what type of operation Red Shield Farm was. It could have been a hotel or some type of hobby-related resort, or a restaurant. Whatever it was, Scammell must have expected to sell a large enough quantity of china to recoup the multicolor decal preparation cost. Like many projects that started during the Depression years, Red Shield Farms was not able to survive.

Information sources: ashtray with crest in center of well, on eBay 8/3/15; 1930s Middletown, N.Y., newspaper search by Susan Phillips.

REFORMA, HOTEL

Mexico City, Mexico.

Crested with outlined upper case, serif "R" in cobalt blue transfer. Placed at 9 o'clock position on rim. Backstamped Scammell's Trenton China, Reforma Hotel, Mexico City, Mexico. The 250-room Reforma opened around 1936. It contained a roof top dining room. Information source. 12' platter with hotel name and location on backstamp, listed on eBay 11 / 17 / 2017.

REISENWEBER'S

8th Ave. & 58th St., SW corner, Columbus Circle, New York, NY & Brighton Beach Casino Ocean Parkway, Coney Island, NY.

The Maddock pattern book contains #5093 "Reisenweber Border - Five Ornaments." See page 538. The ornaments are two feather-like shapes with four loops on the inner edge that appear almost wing-like. Five ornaments were spaced around the rim and connected by hand-applied lines. They are shown in the pattern book in green and brown. There is no indication that this pattern was crested with the restaurant name or logo.

Reisenweber's Cafe began as a tavern on the site in 1856. John Reisenweber rebuilt his father's tavern in the early 1900s and enlarged it in 1910. It contained 12 dining rooms and a ballroom. It seated up to 5,000 diners at one time and employed 1,000 people. The Original Dixieland Jass Band, then performing at Reisenweber's, recorded on February 26, 1917, the first Victor jazz record. In 1916 Sophie Tucker began performing in the Paradise Ballroom, Crystal Room, and the 400 Room. A staple of New York nightlife, the "cover charge" was introduced at Reisenweber's. In 1922 Federal Agents padlocked Reisenweber's for Prohibition violations, and it never reopened. John Reisenweber also operated a casino in Coney Island and was part owner of the Excelsior Brewery in Brooklyn, which supplied his restaurants.

Information source: theboweryboys.blogspot.com, Friday, February 26, 2010. (Note: Jass Band is the correct spelling; it was renamed Jazz Band a year later.)

REYNOLDS HOTEL COMPANY

Various locations.

Crested in center of well with coin gold shield containing 3 walking animals. Helmet and flanking scrolls atop shield. Walking animal above helmet. Banner curved below with "Reynolds Hotel Co." RHODE'S MOUNTAIN INN

Additional information on listed customer. Rt 611 Scotrun, PA.

Crested with a multicolor decal illustration of the three-story inn. "Rhode's" over "Mountain Inn" in green lettering, below the building. #8027 "Oakland General Service Border" of acorns, oak leaves and stems. (See pages 158 & 527.) Scammell Trenton China (S-T-21). Maddock's pattern book contains these notes about the pattern - "Always used with crest" & "Not likely sold to anyone else." As you can see, it was sold to someone other than the Oakland Hotel that it was created for in 1912.

Rhode's Mountain Inn may have opened in the 1920s. At some point the original clapboard section was enlarged on the right end of the facade. This is the view shown on the crest. By 1934, the three-story hotel contained 50 rooms. Later what was originally a garage for the inn was converted into the coffee shop that was at the far right end of the inn. A postcard view of the coffee shop shows about 19 cars parked around the coffee shop. This suggests that there was seating for between 38 and 76 customers. The inn burned in the 1970s.

RIGGINS HOTEL, THE 8th & Austin Sts., Waco, TX.

Crested with a shield with sides curving to point at bottom. Upper case white "R" against dark background. Native Americans, standing on scrolls, flanking shield. "The Riggins" above shield. Thick & thin rim lines, with curved ends, flanking logo. All in green transfer. Maddock Lamberton China, Supplied by Albert Pick & Co.

The 10-story, 200-room Riggins opened in 1912. Around 1915 it was renamed Raleigh. By 2010 it had been converted into offices for the State of Texas.

Information source. Soup plates on eBay 8 / 3 / 16.

RITZ CARLTON HOTELS

Additional information on listed customer. Various locations. (See page 214.)

Additional pattern - Border sprays of stylized flowers and leaves in pink, yellow, blue and green. Solid colors, no outlines or detail shadings. Red rim line. Scammell Lamberton (S - L - 37) "Made for Ritz Carlton Hotel."

RIVERBANK COURT HOTEL

Additional information on listed customer. Charles River Basin Esplanade, Boston, MA.

The Lamberton Works produced at least 2 patterns for this hotel. The earliest one has a border composed of circles & urns connected by bead swags. Plates are crested in the center of the well with the hotel's shield logo containing a horizontal center bar, with 2 club shapes above, 1 below. Helmet & crossed battle ax heads on top, banner curved below with "Riverbank Court Hotel." These are backstamped "Lamberton China" & supplied by Mitchell Woodbury.

A later pattern contains a border band of adjoining crescent shapes in alternating red, blue, green & yellow. This pattern is on Ivory body (S-I-27). Backstamped for "Riverbank Court Hotel."

The 7-story, 250-room hotel opened in 1900. In 1937 it closed and was converted into a dormitory for

MIT.

RONEY PLAZA HOTEL

2301 Collins Ave. Miami, FL. Opened Feb. 6, 1926.

Curve-sided shield containing illustration of palm tree with flanking, upper case, serif, "R" " P" letters. Scroll ornament above flat top, palm fronds & scrollwork flanking sides of shield. All in coin gold. Scammell Lamberton (S - L - 13)

ROOSEVELT HOSPITAL

10th Ave. & 59th St. New York, NY.

Crested with a gray green shield containing red roses. Three ostrich plumes are atop shield. Banner curved below with "Qui Plantavit Curabit" he who planted will preserve. This crest is a variation on the Roosevelt family coat of arms. The border flanking the crest is composed of gray green acanthus scrolls, flowers and leaves, outlined with thin red lines.

This border is shown in the Maddock pattern book as #8030 and titled "Roosevelt Border." (See page 527.) It was probably created around 1912 and produced with a Maddock Lamberton backstamp. The pattern continued to be produced by Scammell with one piece containing the backstamped date of 1926.

The 1931 Scammell Lamberton catalog lists Roosevelt Hospital as one of Scammell's customers but does not give a location. Roosevelt Hospital on 59th Street in New York City is the oldest and largest hospital by that name. It was founded in 1871 and named for James Henry Roosevelt, a businessman who donated money for the original building. A monument to James H. Roosevelt, which stands on the Roosevelt Hospital property, contains his crest and matches that used on the china.

Among the 27 pieces of this pattern that were found in a Long Island home purchased in 1973 is a covered bowl similar to the covered bouillon bowls used for hospital tray service. Information sources: Carol L. Winslow, Ed Babcock, Susan Phillips, and other RWCN members. See RWCN IDwiki.

ROSOFF'S (RESTAURANT)

147-151 W. 43rd St. New York, NY

Crested "Rosoff's" in blue Old English-style lettering, placed on a downward angle. The flanking transfer scroll border is rendered in light and dark shades of blue. Scammell Trenton China. Barth Equipment Company, the supplier, was founded in 1928, so production of this pattern could date from around that time until around 1954.

Rosoff's was founded by Max Rosoff who was born in Russia. Max came to America in 1892 at the age of 12. Seven years later he opened a deli in Brooklyn. Around 1905 he moved his operation to 6th Avenue in Manhattan. In 1918 he relocated once again to 43rd Street, just off of Times Square. Max used the lower three floors of this 6-story building for his dining rooms, with a 3,000 square foot dining room on the ground floor. The upper floors were operated as a hotel. Max Rosoff died in 1962 at the age of 82. The restaurant continued in operation until May, 1981.

Information sources. Platter listed on eBay by Superkarey, 11/28/2016, with photo used by his permission. New York Times article by Glen Fowler, May 20, 1981. New York Times article by Jim Wilson, February 10, 1991.

ROYAL SUPERIOR QUALITY

Additional information on listed customer. Royal Bakery & Confectionary Co., Inc. Several locations. Portland, OR.

Crested with a green wreath encircling a green torch with red flames. "ROYAL" in red upper case letters across the center of the wreath and torch. "Superior Quality" curved below wreath, in green. Green and red rim lines, red verge pin line. Maddock Lamberton China. Supplied by Prael Hagel & Co., Inc. Portland, Oregon. Circa 1910s. Also produced by John Maddock of England.

Royal Bakery & Confectionary was a large commercial bakery that supplied delivery of their "Table Queen" and "Keen-Maid" bread brands to grocery stores by horse-drawn delivery vans. Grocers sold the bread in 10¢- and 15¢-per-loaf sizes. They operated a number of retail bakery and candy stores with restaurants in downtown Portland. There was a Japanese Tea Garden in the rear of their store at Park and Washington Streets, and the Egyptian Tea Room at 268 Morrison Street. There was another retail store at 11th and Everett NW, in 1917. In July of 1922, the retail stores and restaurants were closed and only wholesale sales continued.

SATURN CLUB

417 Delaware Ave. Buffalo, NY

Crested with illustration of the planet Saturn with encircling rings. In brick red brown & black. Black & brick red pin lines with curved ends, flanking logo. Maddock Pottery Co., M-L-3.

The Saturn Club was founded in 1885 as a private mens social club. By 1890 the club had grown to 150 members and on December 13, 1890 they opened their new 3-story clubhouse at 417 Delaware Ave. By 1919 membership had grown to over 330, and they were outgrowing their clubhouse. On October 21, 1922 their new Tudor Revival style clubhouse at 977 Delaware Ave. opened with a procession of the members from their old clubhouse to the new one. Over the entrance to the new building is a stone version of the Saturn logo.

Based on the Maddock backstamp, this pattern was first used in the 1890 clubhouse.

SPRINGFIELD COLLEGE

263 Alden St. Springfield, MA. For the 50th Anniversary of Springfield College, founded in 1885 as an affiliation of the YMCA, Scammell prepared a set of 10 1/4" Ivory Jubilee Plates, with 12 different center-of-the-well designs. The central scenes were enclosed in a wreath of pine needles and pine cones.

The 12 scenes include:

- Dr. L. L. Doggett (President from 1896 to 1936);
- Pratt Field Gate;
- Woods Hall;
- Alumni Hall (Rear View);
- Alumni Hall (Front View);
- Pueblo of Seven Fires;
- Gymnasium;
- Administration Building;
- Library;
- Walter Rupert Weisner Infirmary;
- School for Christian Workers (first Springfield College Building); and
- Washington Gladden Boat House.

The border is composed of oak and ivy leaves, pine needles and cones, with a portrait of Chief Masasoit at the top of the border. This design was done in eleven soft color tints.

On the reverse side is the Springfield College seal, the title of the centerpiece design, and President Doggett's signature (on the first edition of 200 dozen). Scammell's Ivory backstamp S-I-27, is above the college information, all in the College's purple color. Bliss P. Sergeant, Jr was Chairman of the Jubilee Plate Committee which sold the set of 12 for $18.00, or a set of 6 for $10.00.

By November of 1935, when the set was announced in the College Bulletin, over 50 dozen of the initial 200 dozen first edition had been sold.

TRIANON & ARAGON (BALLROOMS)

Trianon-Cottage Grove Ave. Aragon-1106 Lawrence near Broadway, Chicago, IL.

Crested with a coin gold frame around a vertical oval containing 3 fluer de lis. Crown atop frame. Flanking scrolls at bottom, above "TRIANON & ARAGON." Coin gold rim line. Scammell Lamberton (S-L-15). This china service was apparently used in both facilities.

These two ballrooms were built and operated by brothers Andrew and William Karzas. They were famous for the radio broadcasts of the big bands that played there. The Trianon opened Dec. 5, 1922. Its oval-shape ballroom was 170' wide and 100' long, and could accommodate 3,000 people (1,500 couples). The Aragon opened July, 1926, with an octagonal-shape ballroom that could hold 5,000 people.

The Trianon closed May 2, 1954, but later reopened several times under different owners, before being torn down. The Aragon closed February 9, 1964, but remains standing and is used for concerts and events.

T R R (TUCKERTON RAIL ROAD?)

Customer identification and location undetermined.

Crested with brown transfer illustration of a ship's life preserver with "RTR" monogram within. Upper case serif, "T" in center with smaller "R" on each side of vertical stroke on the "T." Rim and verge brown lines. Scammell Lamberton China S-L-13.

The exact usage of this china is unknown. One possibility is the Tuckerton Rail Road, which was founded in 1871 and closed down in 1936. It operated from Whitings, NJ to Tuckerton, NJ. It operated passenger service but did not have any type of meal service. There was a ferry service from Edge Cove to Long Beach Island, but no meal service on the ferries. At some point there was a private (business) railroad car in use, but it may have belonged to the Pennsylvania Railroad. More research is needed to make a positive identification.

Information sources . Small platter on RWCN thread, 10/7/2015; information on private car Tuckerton Railroad Facebook page.

TSOUROUNAKIS, BISHOP EIRINAIOS

The center of the well contains a view of a complex of buildings around a domed church. Curved above the illustration is "TEPATIKH" "EXOAH." Below is "KPHTHE," which translates to "Seminary Crete." A search of 'Crete monastery' turned up a lot of monasteries. The one I think looks most like the plate illustration is Agia Triada. The gable roof building on the left is the school (seminary).

The border design is the Scammell version of a patented design that Bauscher China produced for the Pompeian Room of the Congress Hotel in Chicago. The panels on this design feature robed maidens dancing around.

The back is marked "Apk. Eip. Tsourounakis" above "D. W. Scammell" above "Frangos Brothers" (translation). Ivory Scammell Lamberton S-I-27 (photo at right). When and why this plate was made, and how it was used, is unknown. It may have been made in connection with Eirinaios Tsourounakis becoming the Greek Orthodox Bishop of San Francisco in 1942, or as possibly a fundraiser for the Seminary in Crete?

TUDOR CITY

Additional information on listed customer. New York, NY

In 1927 real estate developer Fred F. French began turning a former slum area overlooking the East River into his vision of an urban Utopia. By the time The French Company completed the project it contained 15 buildings, 11 of which were apartment buildings. By 1929 Tudor Tower, on the Southeast corner of Prospect Place and E. 42nd St., contained a dining room that featured large leaded glass windows with stained glass heraldic shield inserts. Prospect Tower, at the Northeast corner of Prospect Place and E. 42nd St. featured a 2-level dining room with scenic murals and wrought iron railings. Hatfield House at 304 E. 41st St., Woodstock Tower, at 320 E. 42nd St., and Windsor Tower a 5 Prospect Place all contained restaurants that offered room service.

The 22-story, 572-room Hotel Tudor at 304 E. 42nd St., opened in 1931. Its Cameo Room and bar were decorated in a streamlined Art Deco-inspired style.

TUILERIES, HOTEL (TUILLERIES)

Additional information on listed customer. 270 Commonwealth Ave., Boston. MA.

The 1917 Maddock Lambertson catalog contains a list of its customers by cities. “Tuilleries” is listed under Boston. Turns out there was a Tuilleries Hotel (spelled with one l). This 6-story hotel opened in 1896. Maddock’s catalog gives no indication about the appearance of this pattern, but a Restaurant Ware Collectors Network thread that began in June of 2008 contains an illustration of a pattern made by Theodore Haviland in Limoges, France. It is backstamped “Hotel Tuilleries” (2 ‘l’s) and “Patent applied for.” This pattern is composed of a small border of green leaves and red berries. Inside the border are floral swags in red and green. If Maddock produced a version of this pattern they would have had to make some minor changes to get around the patent protection. (See page 512 for overglaze pattern #1080, “Small Festoon,” which is similar in concept, minus the leaf and berry rim border.) Abram French Co. was Maddock’s Boston distributor that also carried Haviland China. Mitchell Woodbury was another distributor of both Scammell and Haviland.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB ALLEGHENY COUNTY

Additional information on listed customer: 4201 Bigelow Blvd. Pittsburgh, PA.

Crested with a circle containing illustration of Minerva (Goddess of Wisdom) seated on pedestal, with quill pen in hand, feet on top of a globe. Figure in tan & brown against blue background. “Non Noris Solym Sed Toti Mundo” (not for ourselves but for the whole world) curved around top, inside circle. “Twentieth Century Club Allegheny County” around bottom. Flanking #6075 Fleiselman Border, in blue transfer (see page 514). Scammell Lamberton China (S-L-13). Supplied by Reizenstein, Pittsburgh.

Founded as a private women’s club in 1894. Clubhouse built 1910 & enlarged to double original size in 1930. Has a 250-seat dining room and a 225-seat Art Deco ballroom.

The present logo, consisting of a scrolled vertical oval frame containing a large “T” flanked by small “C.” “C” was introduced before 1962. The club website (www.thetwentiethcenturyclub.com) shows two china services crested with the updated logo. A coin gold service and one in mint green.

TWENTIETH CENTURY LUNCH

12 Brown St. Portland, ME.

Stacked “Twentieth” over “Century” curved above straight “Lunch” in ornate serif letters. Maddock’s American China. (M - A - 7) Supplied by E. Swasey & Co. Portland, ME. RWCN.

207TH COAST ARTILLERY REGIMENT (ANTI-AIRCRAFT)

Camp Stewart, GA.

Crested with “207th C. A. (AA)” above “Camp Stewart, GA. 1941 -.” In red upper case, sans-serif lettering, curved to follow rim . On Scammell Lenape base. Red transfer backstamp (S -LE -33). Impressed Scammell’s Trenton China.

Camp Stewart is located on 279,270 acres at Hinesville, Georgia, about 40 miles west of Savannah. Construction on this camp, named for Revolutionary War hero General Daniel Stewart, began in July of 1940. It was designed as an antiaircraft training facility and antiaircraft gun firing range. In February of 1941, troops began arriving at the camp to begin their training. The 207th Coast Artillery Regiment of New York City was one of the first to arrive. The former 7th Regiment of the New York National Guard was inducted into federal service on February 10, 1941, renamed the 207th, and moved to Camp Stewart on February 20, 1941. Scammell produced this china for their mess hall use at Camp Stewart. On March 22, 1942, the 207th was reassigned to Camp Pendleton, VA. They were later involved in the Normandy invasion.

This pattern raises a number of so-far unanswered questions: Why was crested china on tan body used instead of the standard issue plain white china? Was crested china made for the other original regiments at Camp Stewart? Did someone related to some member of the 207th pay to have this china made?

UNITARIAN CHURCH (FIRST UNITARIAN CONGREGATIONAL SOCIETY)

Additional information on listed customer: 215 Pearl St. Hartford , CT.

Listed in Scammell New England Contact book, dated Nov. 14, 1924. Trenton China underglaze. Crest in red brown on rim. 1 line band black. 1 pin line under crest in red brown. Supplier Geo. Fox & Co.

In 1924, the First Unitarian Congregational Society built a new church to replace a former structure. The new building was dedicated Nov. 30, 1924. You will note that the dedication was only a couple of weeks after Mr. Scammell's visit on the 14th. Were they then placing an order for a new china service, or was Mr. Scammell checking to see if the china that they ordered had arrived? No information has been found on what the crest looked like. U. S. ENGINEERS (U.S. ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS)

Additional information on listed customer: (See page 347). One of the places that china with this crest was used was aboard the James B. McPherson, a 175 foot-long snag boat built in 1891 at the Iowa Iron Works, Dubuque, IA, for the Corps of Engineers. It operated on the Missouri River until at least 1916. The boat was named for Civil War General James Birdseye McPherson, who served in the Engineers.

Snag boats searched for and removed trees that had fallen into the river, along with underwater tree stumps and other items that could cause obstructions in the river. A grapple and clamshell scoop on the bow pulled the obstruction from the river and placed it on a barge. The snag boats had two decks above the water line and were powered by a stern paddle wheel. The china used on this snag boat had red & blue rim pin lines rather than the coin gold line.

The example shown at www.martinecommissary.com is not backstamped. For additional information about Iowa Iron Works see www.lib.ndsu.nodak.edu.

U. S. NAVY

Additional information on listed customer. Various locations.

Crested with circle containing spread-winged eagle standing on fouled anchor. "Department of the Navy" curved between linked chain inner circle and outer circle. In coin gold. Twin blue pin lines at rim. Maddock Lamberton China (M-L-2) & (M-L-4). This pattern used in Senior Officer's Wardrooms and Captain's Cabin Mess.

Rank does have its privileges, as shown in the above pattern. For the regular sailors it was the basic necessities, which meant plain white Trenton China. The impressed backstamp included "U.S. Navy." (See page 347). 9 1/2" x 12" x 2 1/4" oval serving bowls were included in this china service, indicating that food was served at long tables "family" style. The contracts for supplying this china would have been bid on by most of the hotel china makers, making the profit margin low, but worthwhile because of the quantities produced.

U.S. REVENUE CUTTER SERVICE

Various locations. Crested with a curve-sided shield containing uppercase, script "USRCS" monogram. This pattern was produced in two color variations of the transfer design - a light gray green background with darker letters and a light red orange background with darker letters. On the green shield variation the rim lines consist of a thick green line flanked by red pin lines. On the red version it is a thick red line flanked by green pin lines. Maddock Lamberton (M - L - 2). This china was produced before 1915 when the Revenue Service became the Coast Guard, which changed the initials in the shield to "USCG." (See page 346). Celery trays and 2-handled bouillon cups and saucers are included in this china service.

Information source: Northwest Coast Guard Museum, Seattle WA. They are on display in this museum, along with other early patterns, including a floral design by Greenwood China.

U.S. NAVY - ADMIRAL

Crested with rectangular flags containing drop out white elements on blue backgrounds, on crossed poles, in coin gold. Central fouled anchor with 4 stars in corners on left side flag. Six rows of tiny stars with alternating sets of 7 stars & 8 stars (45 total) on right side flag. "U.S.N" in coin gold between poles. Coin gold and blue rim lines, gold verge line. Maddock Lamberton (M-L-2). Overglaze decoration.

Made for use by Admiral George Dewey after he received his 4th Star in 1903 and served as "Admiral of the Navy" from 1903 until his death in 1917.

VERSAILLES

Additional information on listed customer. 151 E. 50th St., between 3rd and Lexington Avenue, New York, NY.

Crested with a two-part shield containing twined rooster heads and open wings in upper section, three fleur-de-lis in lower section. Banner curved below with "Versailles" in script lettering.

Service plates have full cobalt blue rims with shield crest, rim and verge pin lines in coin gold.

Ashtrays have the cobalt rim with coin gold rim and verge pin lines. The center of the well contains the shield in coin gold with an outer circle of fleur-de-lis.

Other pieces in the service contain only the shield crest in dark red brown. The earliest pieces are on the regular Lamberton body with the "S" in shield, with encircling wreath backstamp. Later production was on ivory body, furnished by Barth Equipment Co., of New York City.

The Versailles, at 151 E. 50th Street in New York, was built in 1920 as an opera house. In the 1930s, Nick Prounis and Arnold Rossfield converted the former theater into a two-level restaurant-cabaret that they operated as the Versailles. It was a large two-story oval room with a domed ceiling and stage at one end. It featured nightly performances by their Cuban orchestra and special performances by well-known stars such as French singer Edith Piaf. After 22 years of operation, the Versailles closed abruptly rather than dealing with $750,000 in unpaid taxes.

In May of 1958, Morris Levy, owner of Roulette Records took over the former Versailles and reopened it as the Roundtable, redecorated in a "King Arthur" motif, but named as a reference to his record company. Morris Levy gave all of the remaining old Versailles china, glassware and tablecloths to Trudy Heller, a former partner in a defunct musician's hangout, "The Blue Note." Mrs. Heller used the furnishings in her small jazz spot at 6th Ave and 9th Street, which she named Versailles. The Roundtable was later renamed "Noir." By August of 2014, it had just been refurbished and reopened as a 468-seat Mediterranean restaurant named "Ibis."

VIRGINIA HOTEL

Additional information on listed customer and pattern #8078. Rush & Ohio Sts., Chicago, IL.

Decal border #8078 Virginia Dryburg, in blue and brown. (see page 536 & photograph of version without laurel leaf outer band on page 159). Maddock Lamberton China.

The 10-story, 480-room Virginia Hotel was built in 1889. It contained both a main dining room and a separate ladies dining room. By 1913 Alexander Dryburg was the lessee of the Virginia. Around this time he contracted with the Maddock Pottery Company for a new border pattern Lamberton service. The 1917 Maddock catalog lists the Virginia as a customer. So far no examples of this pattern marked for the Virginia Hotel are known. The pattern sample book does not show any crest being used with the border. An 1893 booklet issued by the hotel shows a shield logo containing "The" "Virginia" "Hotel" as stacked words on an upward angle. There is a helmet atop the shield, scrolls cascading down the sides and a banner below with "Chicago." This original crest may have been eliminated by Mr. Dryburg when he ordered the new china pattern.

YOUNKERS TEA ROOM

Additional information on listed customer. 7th & Walnut Streets, Des Moines, IA.

Crested with a double-headed eagle with circle in center containing an interlocking "YB" monogram that has square corners on the serifs. The "Y" is tucked behind the center cross stroke of the "B." The monogram and the eagle's wings are black. The background of the circle is yellow. A gray and black crown is above the eagle. Light blue ribbons project from the crest. The blue ribbon border is shown in the Maddock pattern book, along with the crest, as #6057 Fleischman Border. The one known piece of this pattern, a footed compote, does not have the Maddock backstamp, but is marked "Albert Pick & Co. Chicago San Francisco."

This department store opened in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1899. Their tea room opened in 1913 in the east building. In 1924, the west building was added, and in 1927, the tea room reopened on the sixth floor. The 1931 Scammell catalog lists Younker Bros under their Tea Room and Restaurant customer list. A pre-1962 matchbook shows an up-dated version of the circle logo containing the interlocking "YB" monogram that has square corners on the serifs. There is a square directly below the bottom of the "Y" in the circle frame. At this time there has been no identification of the pattern produced by Scammell for the 1927 Tea Room. It could contain the updated logo, or could be an uncrested border design. It may have also been supplied by Albert Pick. The tea room closed shortly before the entire store closed in 2005. On March 30, 2014, a fire destroyed the east building, but the tea room space in the west building was saved.

ZOO GARDENS

Additional information on listed customer: 3400 Vine St. Cincinnati, OH.

Listed as customer in 1917 Maddock Lamberton catalog. No information on cresting or pattern design.

The zoo opened 1875 with 769 animals. From 1901 to 1915 it was operated by Cincinnati Traction Co. as a designation for their streetcars. It would seem that this china was used in a restaurant within the zoo. Because it was Lamberton China this was probably a formal restaurant rather than a lunch counter-type operation.
